

IREDA organizes a focused training program for Non-Executive officials

A Focused Training Program was organized by IREDA for its Non-Executive officials in collaboration with Ashok Institute of Hospitality & Tourism Management (AIHTM), India Tourism Development Corporation Ltd. (ITDC) from 2nd August to 6th August 2021. The training program was organized at IREDA's Corporate Office, New Delhi.

Senior faculty members from AIHTM conducted training sessions on various aspects of soft skills & personality development including– personal grooming, work ethics, business meeting etiquettes, business communication, general administration, and stress management.

Inaugurating the training program, Shri Pradip Kumar Das, Chairman & Managing Director (CMD), IREDA highlighted that IREDA gives great importance to overall development of its employees including soft skills & personality development. He further said that the soft skills & personality development training shall be imparted to other employees also.

Shri Chintan Shah, Director (Technical), IREDA underlined the importance of communication at every level and every activity. Hence, he endorsed the CMD's view for extending this program to everyone.

On the concluding day, presentations were delivered by all the participants on various topics such as – Grooming, Work Life Balance, Work Ethics and Body Language. A 360-degree feedback was also done to evaluate the participants and the faculty.

Top three participants were felicitated.
